State Officials Dispatch Telegram Asking that Emergency Legislation Be Enacted

TO STABILIZE PRICES

Urge Also That Agriculture As Basic Industry Be Aided To Aid Other Lines

North Dakota state officials headed by Governor R. A. Nestos today dispatched a telegram to President Harding and Secretary of Agriculture Wallace declaring the belief that emergency legislation is necessary to stabilize prices of the 1922 farm crop.

Officials asked thoughtful consideration of various proposals made for stabilizing prices of farm products, though not committing themselves to any particular plan and expressed the belief that emergency legislation should be supplemented by "such other enactments, economically sound, as shall tend to stabilize the prices of farm products and insure to the farmers improved and fair marketing conditions for agricultural products to the end that the producer may receive fair return for his labor and investment."

The position is taken in the telegram that agriculture is our basic industry and that as long as it is in a depressed state there can be no permanent revival of business.

Text of Message

The telegram follows:
"It is conceded that agriculture is our basic industry. The condition of agriculture and the problems that confront our farmers today are so serious that if American business is to become rehabilitated and the process of reconstruction hastened, emergency legislation must be enacted that will insure a price for farm products that will pay for the nineteen-twenty-two crop the cost of production plus a reasonable profit. We most earnestly invite your thoughtful consideration of various solutions proposed, such as the revival of the United States Grain Corporation, the fixing of a reasonable minimum price on wheat, the creation of a foreign market for the surplus wheat by the extension of additional credit for that purpose to the countries needing our wheat, or by a combination of the soundest elements of these suggested remedies, with such others as may be thought wise, and that you urge upon congress the necessity of supplementing such emergency legislation, with such other enactments, economically sound, as shall tend to stabilize the prices of farm products and insure to the farmers improved and fair marketing conditions for agricultural products, to the end that the producer may receive a fair return for his labor and investment."

MEAT WORKERS
VOTE TO KEEP ON IN STRIKE

Official of Union Claims Overwhelming Vote in Favor of Strike

Chicago, Jan. 27.—(By the Associated Press.)—Striking packing house workers in the 13 great meat packing centers have voted by an overwhelming majority to continue the strike started Dec. 5, 1921. Dennis Lane, international secretary of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workers of America, announced today.

In Chicago, Mr. Lane said, the majority of the strikers declined to vote in the referendum which was ordered after government mediators advised the union not to hold out any hope of successful intervention by the government.

In St. Paul and Albert Lea, Minn., reports show a 100 per cent vote to continue the strike, he said.

GOSSIP IS WHAT RUINS YOUNG GIRLS
SAYS JUDGE LINDSEY'S "LADY COP"

MISS RUTH VINCENT

BY EDWARD THIERRY.

New York, Jan. 27.—Gossip ruins more girls' lives than anything else. That's Miss Ruth Vincent's opinion. She knows, for that is her business—helping girls to unravel the tangled skeins of their lives.

She has been called Denver's "Lady Cop." But she is not merely a policeman. Her title is "Chief Officer for Girls of Denver." Often she is also court judge and jury.

"Public courts hurt rather than help wayward girls," Miss Vincent said, while on a vacation in New York.

"A woman's court should not be a public room, where morbid-minded people can sit and listen to testimony about a girl's angriest life that breeds gossip.

Privacy Is Needed.

"When a girl meets misfortune she is not ruined as people are fond of using the word 'ruined'—unless other people know about it.

"We need privacy in the court room in cases of this kind. All cities should adopt this method.

"In Denver there is as much privacy as in a doctor's office. A girl is arrested—or perhaps she comes in voluntarily. She is not frightened by the anxiety and the publicity of a court room.

"I talk with her in my small office. She knows it is confidential. Therefore she always tells the truth. Out in a public court room in a delicate case involving sex, she will lie 9 times out of 10."

Miss Vincent is an assistant to Judge Ben B. Lindsey of the Denver juvenile court. She has held her job four years.

She is young and good-looking and smiles as she talks. She is slim and has a gentle voice. She does not look more than 21 to 23.

"My youth helps me in my work," she said. "Girls who come to court are surprised. They usually say they expected a severe, matronly woman with spectacles and a sharp tongue."

Conditions worse now than in the past.

"Undoubtedly worse," Miss Vincent said. "The chief reason, I think, is the greater freedom that girls have now.

"The greatest agent of harm is the automobile. Jazz dances? No, I don't think jazz dances do so much harm. It is greatly exaggerated."

A prison sentence is the rarest thing Miss Vincent's office deals in.

GAS FROM MOTOR
CAUSE OF DEATH

Valley City, N. D., Jan. 27.—Word has been received here of the death from asphyxiation of William C. Suter, 37, of Minneapolis, whose wife, formerly Miss Beatrice Suter, at one time resided here. Mr. Suter had apparently started his engine while it was in his garage and had been overcome by gas fumes given off by the motor. None of the running engine finally attracted neighbors who opened the garage and found Suter dead at the wheel.

GIVEN DIVORCE
IN LOCAL COURT

Judge Coffey, after hearing evidence in the case of Marion Gordon against Pearl Gordon asking for divorce on the ground of desertion, granted the divorce. It was said the defendant was now living in Montana.

Judge Coffey sentenced Norman Dybvick to his plea of guilty to grand larceny to service in the state train school at Mandan until he is 21 or until released by law. Dybvick, it was said, will be 21 in the spring. Dybvick was represented by Theodore Koffel. Judge Coffey declined to accede to pleas made for a suspended sentence.

NEW WITNESS IN GUMMER TRIAL

Roy Murphy Will Be Called In Barnes District Court

Fargo, Jan. 27.—Roy Murphy, a prisoner in the Cass county jail, will be a witness for the prosecution in the trial of William Gummer, charged with murdering Miss Marie Wick. Murphy's name was noticed in the district court of Barnes county yesterday, the prosecution being given the privilege of calling him as a witness, the defense making no objection.

The introduction of Murphy's name into the case at this late hour as a witness for the prosecution has aroused speculation concerning the testimony he may be able to give.

Murphy was in the jail during a part of the time that Gummer was confined there, from the time he was held for trial until he was taken to Valley City, and during part of which time Mrs. Brown, Gummer's roommate, was also being held in the jail.

William C. Green, state's attorney, whose illness was responsible for the delay in the trial until next Monday, is improving, according to word received from Valley City. Mrs. Green went to Valley City last night and will remain with him.

Physicians who attended Mr. Green feared the development of pneumonia last Saturday evening, when they were first called, but at this time he is getting along satisfactorily, and the danger of such complication apparently has been averted.

National Agricultural Conference Goes on Record For Naming Commission

DEBATE IS STIRRED UP

Resolutions Dealing with Union Labor and Adamson Law Bring Fight

REJECT WATERWAYS.
Washington, Jan. 27.—Committee conclusions which would have put the National Agricultural Conference on record as endorsing the Great Lake-St. Lawrence waterways project were stricken out when the committee report came up for discussion by the conference.

FOR SHORTER LAW.
Washington, Jan. 27.—Union labor won a victory in the National Agricultural Conference today when that body by a vote of 53 to 61 struck out of a committee report a recommendation for repeal of the Adamson 8-hour law.

Washington, Jan. 27.—Recommendation for the appointment of a federal committee to form a national land policy in the question of reclamation and irrigation were adopted today by the National Agricultural Conference.

The conference also went on record as opposed to the opening of any more land for farming purposes until normal economic conditions are restored. Immediate cessation of devastation of forest lands was recommended in the report of the committee.

The report also recommended effective matters of fire prevention, forest research and increase in nations forest reserve.

Heated Debate Evolved.
Prospects of a fight appeared in the conference as delegates became aware of a report prepared by one of the committee involving legislation affecting railroad labor.

Advanced copies of the report carried recommendations as follows:
Immediate repeal or amendment of the Adamson labor law covering the national agreement, the savings thus effected to be immediately reflected in reduction of freight rates.

Repeal of the guaranty clause of the Esch-Cummins law, improvement of the farm market roads and development of inland waterways, especially the St. Lawrence deep waterway project.

Heated debate was evoked by a resolution calling upon the miners and railroad labor to readjust wages to living costs, which was presented by Wm. H. Stackhouse, of Illinois, of the National Implement and Farm Machinery Association.

Hail warrants to the amount of $21,000 were purchased by W. F. Reko in the final day he remained at the Bank of North Dakota. This makes the total purchases at a face value of 97 close to the $300,000 mark. Purchases by Mr. Reko were completed Thursday evening.

PLAN FARMERS'

SEED AND FEED

Nestos Asks Information For Committee Working Jointly on Problem

DIVERSIFICATION URGED

Governor R. A. Nestos today issued a letter to all county auditors in the state asking for information to aid in plans under way to provide seed and feed for farmers that are unable to put in the 1922 crop without aid.

"It is very apparent that in many counties of the state the farmers will have great difficulty in providing the necessary seed and feed during the coming year to insure the planting, proper cultivation and raising of a crop," the Governor said. "If relief is to be brought, we must work out a solution of this problem without delay."

The commission on rural problems recently appointed by the Governor has appointed a sub-committee of three to consider this question, and the recent convention of the county commissioners at Jamestown appointed a similar committee.

Stating that it is important that the committees be furnished with information on the matter such as will enable them to work out the best possible solution of the problem, the Governor called upon county auditors to furnish the following information:

How many acres are to be sown in small grain?

For how large a portion of this acreage is the owner in a position to furnish feed and seed, or to secure private help in furnishing same?

Is the county as such, in a position to bond for seed, and contemplating doing so?

Do your people regard Federal aid for this purpose desirable?

"It is, of course, very desirable that every farmer who can furnish the feed and seed himself, or can secure privately the needed money should do so, and leave the public aid for those who would be unable, otherwise, to sow their lands."

"I also believe that it would be rendering your people a real service if you would unite in urging upon your farmers the need of greater diversification. In the long run the raising of more cattle, hogs and chickens and the planting of corn, potatoes, and garden truck will make prosperity more certain, and the problem of furnishing seed and feed will thereby be materially lessened."

The Governor urged the necessity of early action in the matter.

DEFEAT FIXED
PRICE REQUEST

Action Taken By Implement Dealers at Fargo

Fargo, Jan. 27.—An amended resolution favoring a temporary fixed price of $2.20 per bushel for wheat was lost today in the convention of the North Dakota Implement Dealers. A substitute resolution adopted endorsed a reasonable and profitable price for farm products and a workable price to stabilize wheat prices.

H. P. Amoth, of Thompson, was elected president and among the directors elected was J. P. French, of Bismarck. The directors will select the next meeting place.

JUDGMENT IN
SISAL TRUST SUIT

Default judgment has been taken in district court here against L. A. Simpson, Dickinson attorney, by the Bismarck Bank, the case growing out of the loan by the bank to the U. S. Sisal Trust.

The loan, amounting to $5,000, was made May 1, 1920, for four months to the U. S. Sisal Trust, J. R. Waters and J. W. Brinton. The note was endorsed by Waters and Simpson. Judgment had previously been taken against the makers of the note.

WILL BE HELD ON RELEASE FROM MINNESOTA JAIL WITH AIDING IN COMMITTING BANK EMBEZZLEMENT

Hastings Affair in Scandinavian-American Bank of Fargo is Made Basis For Charge Brought Against Head of National Nonpartisan League—Brinton and Waters To Be Witnesses Against Former League Chief

Arthur C. Townley, president of the National Nonpartisan League, is charged in a complaint by William C. Green, states attorney of Cass county, with having aided and abetted the commission of the crime of embezzlement, it was announced today by Attorney General Sveinbjorn Johnson.

Townley will be arrested as soon as he is released, after Jan. 31, from the Jackson county, Minnesota, jail where he is serving a jail sentence for violation of the Minnesota war-time act. He will be required to appear in Fargo and answer to the charge.

It is alleged that Townley aided and abetted J. J. Hastings, former vice president of the Scandinavian-American bank of Fargo and financial agent for the Nonpartisan League, in committing the crime of embezzling $3,000 from the Scandinavian-American bank. A warrant was issued by the state's attorney of Cass county for the arrest of Hastings and he slipped into hiding after he had been notified in Seattle that he was to be arrested.

Hastings Charge.
The specific charge against Hastings was that he had borrowed $3,000 from the Scandinavian-American bank for "U. S. Sisal Trust, J. J. Hastings, trustee," while he was vice president of the bank and before the sisal trust was in existence.

The law under which the charge is brought against Townley is Section 9218 of the North Dakota penal code which makes it an offense for "all persons concerned in the commission of a crime whether it is a felony or a misdemeanor and whether they directly commit the act constituting the offense or aid and abet in its commission."

The penalty for embezzlement is one to five years in prison. One aiding and abetting in the commission of embezzlement is guilty of this crime, it is stated by officials.

Sisal Trust Ownership.
The U. S. Sisal Trust was a stock company formed to purchase land in Florida for the growing of sisal, used in making binder twine. The company sold a great deal of stock to North Dakota farmers and is said to own 22,000 acres of land in Florida.

The Sisal Trust was assailed in North Dakota as a "league enterprise" and it was alleged it was a method whereby Townley and aids fleeced the farmers. The ownership of the Sisal Trust is somewhat in doubt at the present time. J. W. Brinton, formerly closely associated with Townley and J. R. Waters, former manager of the bank of North Dakota, claim to hold the Sisal Trust land as trustees, and in the legislative investigation held last winter maintained they held it in trust for Townley.

Note Matter Raised.
The history of Sisal Trust dealings was gone into during the house legislative inquiry last winter, including the particular item of $3,000 involved in the Hastings and Townley charges.

Brinton exhibited notes marked exhibits 84 and 85. Brinton declared that Townley had complained Hastings had taken $3,000 out of the bank. A note for $3,000, dated January 20, 1919, was exhibited. It was a 90-day note to the Scandinavian-American bank signed by United States Sisal Trust, J. J. Hastings trustee.

Brinton swore that Hastings told him he was acting as Townley's trustee. Brinton, in answer to a question, as to whether or not the common law trust for the Sisal Trust had been entered into at the time said that in justice to Hastings it was a proposed company that was about to be entered into. He said that the articles of association and trust agreement were filed on April 7, 1919.

Witnesses for State.
Witnesses for the state include J. R. Waters, J. W. Brinton, Receiver Engen of the Scandinavian-American Bank and an accountant who has been working at the bank.

The complaint filed in Fargo says that on January 29, 1919, at Fargo Minn., Townley "feloniously advised and encouraged" Mr. Hastings to commit the crime of embezzlement; that Hastings appropriated the $3,000 obtained on a note for the U. S. Sisal Trust, alleged not to have been in existence at that time, to the use of the defendant, A. C. Townley, and unknown persons.

The filing of the charges against Hastings and Townley recalls the old Valley City and Scandinavian-American Bank deals which began in 1919 because the banking issues in the fight against the league. At that time Brinton and Waters were with the league, holding important positions, and were assailed in various matters.

Charges Against Bank.
A letter became public, written June 10, 1919, by Roy W. Halliday on the stationery of the office of state examiner, held by Mr. Waters, in which he let out the famous "shoot it to other banks" admonition.

There was an examination of the Scandinavian-American bank on it, which charged the bank had made excessive loans most of them to socialist league enterprises.

In the letter Halliday said that "Mr. Waters wishes me to advise you that if the examiners object to any of the papers filed there, you are to tell them that it will be removed at once. The plan for taking care of objectionable matters is to shoot it to the (Continued on Page 7)

DISABLED VETERANS KEPT IDLE IN CAMP "TRAINING" SCHOOL

By Harry Hunt
Camp Sherman, O., Jan. 26—"We came here for training, when do we get it?" That is the question some 300 of Uncle Sam's former soldiers, now at the Camp Sherman "vocational school" here, are asking. Little progress is visible to the naked eye of one inspecting the "school" at first hand.

The institution was set up here for the purpose of teaching trades to veterans entitled to rehabilitation training. Among the courses offered are: Sign painting, plumbing, carpentry, tailoring, cabinet making, baking, shoe repairing, auto mechanics course, tinning and electrical repairs.

To date, approximately six weeks after the "school" was opened, there is no organized plan of method of instruction in most of the courses and there is no adequate equipment for any of the courses except for shoe repairing.

The result is a mounting wave of dissatisfaction and unrest among the men sent here for training and an openly expressed opinion by most of them that they are getting nowhere and that they want to get away.

Sign Painting
Take for instance the sign painting shop. Sixteen men are enrolled in this course. Ten were in the "class room" at the time of my visit. One man was painting black block letters on a board. The others were sitting around the big tin furnace in the center of the building, keeping warm.

Many of these men had been taking sign painting at other schools before they accepted a transfer to Sherman. They were ready for some of the finer points of the trade. But they are not getting even the rudimentary lessons of color mixing here, as yet.

Here were 16 men ready to learn a trade in a school to which Uncle Sam had sent them for training, and yet there was not on hand the essentials for the simplest sign job.

There were no oil colors, no water colors, no canvas, no paper, no frames for canvas, no easels. Only a little white lead, some flat black and a few brushes.

Tailor Shop
In the "tailor shop" the men were doing patchwork and learning how to use a needle.

One man who had been in placement training at a large city tailoring establishment had come to Sherman to learn cutting. In the month he had been here two suits had been cut. Two hundred were cut daily at the shop from which he was transferred. He believes he would have learned the trade more quickly in the private shop, but was told to report at Camp Sherman for further training and was afraid to disobey. He would like to ask a transfer but is afraid to. He is also afraid to give his name—"it might get him in trouble."

Carpenter Shop
In the carpenter shop are six men who are not entered to learn carpentry. They are enrolled for courses in construction. But there is no course in construction even ostensibly organized at Camp Sherman, yet, and so they are put in the carpenter shop making odds and ends for use around the camp. One man, who came here to complete his trade as a bricklayer, hasn't seen a brick or trowel since he entered the camp.

Cabinet Shop
In the cabinet shop, adjoining the carpentry shop, the men said instruction really hadn't begun yet. Most of the men had been at the school more than a month. No instructor was in the room and the men were working away at odd jobs. One was making stools for use in the auto repair shop, others were making battery boxes. An order soon to be tackled, the men said, was of 300 packing boxes for the quartermaster corps.

Plumbing School
At the plumbing school, the only person in evidence was Mr. Grant, the instructor. He said 14 men were enrolled in the course, that seven were sick and that the other seven were out on repair jobs around the camp.

The immediate need, Grant said, was for some equipment. A threading machine which had been used when the camp was built had been set up, but the dies were worn out so it wouldn't cut threads.

There was also a power hack-saw, but no blades. Blades had been ordered since November, the instructor said, but hadn't arrived yet. There was no lead pipe.

The Bakery
Over at the bakery there is just one piece of equipment in addition to the ovens. That is a bread mixer. The only instruction that is possible, under existing equipment, too, instructor said, was in plain bread baking. He would like to teach pastry work also, but had nothing to do it with. They bake the bread for the men at the camp, working from 4 to 11:30 a. m. If they had cake mixers and forms, a doughnut machine, cream-puff filler and other equipment, some of the better paid branches of baking might be taught.

Other Work
Similar conditions were found and explained in the auto shop, the electric shop, the tin shop and other "shops" of the "school."

Lack of equipment, lack of organized and graded courses in instruction were evident everywhere.

In not a single one of the courses offered was there adequate equipment for proper instruction and training, excepting perhaps the shoe repair shop. The equipment there was about that of the ordinary shop that half-soles 'em "while you wait," but was so much more adequate than that to be found elsewhere that this shop looked like a real hive of industry.

These are the real conditions existing today at this government "school" for vocational rehabilitation. To make a showing at this school, men have been virtually drafted from other schools or shops where they were undergoing training. About 500 men have been moved into the school, of which only about 300 remain. The school has been "open" six weeks.

Expansion Planned
The administration's program calls for the expansion of this school to care for about 1,000 men and for the construction of similar schools at other abandoned army camps.

The men are not idle from preference. They come here for training. Many came from well equipped schools or camps because the Camp Sherman school had been pictured to them as the last word in efficient scientific, vocational training institutions. Others came, they declare, because they were given to understand that they would get their training at Camp Sherman or get none at all.

HEAD ACHED AND BODY ACHED
There are various symptoms of kidney trouble—rheumatic pains, back-ache, sore muscles, stiff joints and "always tired" feeling. Mrs. Geo. Morgan, E. Fairfield, Vt., writes: "My head ached and my whole body ached so I could not sleep. Foley Kidney Pills gave me relief." They heal and strengthen weak, disordered kidneys and bladder and help them in their work of filtering the blood and casting out of the system the impurities that cause pain and disease. Prompt in action.

LOOKING AHEAD WITH HENRY FORD

BY NORRIS QUINN
(Copyright 1922, NEA Service)

Detroit, Jan. 26—Henry Ford is trying to make three dreams come true. Those dreams have been behind every massive business move Ford has made or planned in the last year—his bid to buy the undeveloped power plant at Muscle Shoals, Ala. And if you watch closely you'll see these three dreams behind every Ford enterprise in years to come.

ONE—Doing away with the necessity for great cities and getting the people—even industrial workers back to the soil.

TWO—Hastening the arrival of an era when heat, light and power will be so abundant that "it will be wasteful not to use them"—this by intensive development of water power.

THREE—Revising our financial system so "money won't have the power to stop things."

Ford told all about his three dreams and how he hopes to make them come true in an interview here.

Doom of Great Cities
"The great cities are doomed," the auto magnate said. He made a gesture as if he were actually sweeping the cities away.

"I don't mean they'll fall into ruins immediately. But they'll go sooner than you think. A few will stay. They will be big distributing and assembling points—not congested centers."

"The people will go back to the farm and small town. They're headed that way now."

"The city's served a useful purpose. It's taught people how to live in groups and close communities. When they go back to the country they won't tolerate unpaved streets, badly equipped schools, defective sanitation."

"The coming small town will have all the advantages of the big city and none of its drawbacks."

"Then will factory workers commute to and from their work?"

"Not at all!" Ford answered. "Their work will commute to and from them! They'll complete the work in their village workshop—then it will be sent to one of the big assembling and distributing points."

Already an Accomplished Fact
"Now I want to hear someone say it can't be done."

"Because I've already done it! I'm experimenting in several small Michigan towns. Not 30 miles from Detroit I've established a small shop run by water power in an old mill. Work is sent down there, finished and brought back here."

"The workmen live under semi-rural conditions. They have gardens. They may keep chickens and cows, if they wish."

Entertainment? The social life of the small town will adjust itself all right. People will get up their own shows, develop their own entertainment. There'll be fewer spectators and more actors."

Water the Golden Fluid
Ford paused. He'd been talking rapidly. Then—

"I spoke of using water power to operate the little experimental plants in Michigan," he went on.

"Let me tell you water is the golden fluid of the future. It will give us our light, our heat, our power."

"And we can't exhaust it. As long as it rains, rivers will flow and they'll supply power ceaselessly."

"When water power possibilities really are developed, the supply of heat, light and power will be so great it will be wasteful not to use all you can."

Reform of Money System
Then Ford turned to currency reform, the one of his three projects that's had wide publicity.

"Money's valueless except to move things," he said. "You can't eat money. It's useful only as a medium—just like this wire." And Ford seized the wire that dangled from his telephone.

"But money doesn't fulfill its function. When you want to use it, you have to go to a money lender to buy it."

"What does 'deflation' mean? That bankers are trying to make the supply of money approximate the supply of gold."

HENRY FORD

"Why, to make business run on gold is like making passenger traffic on a main line dependent on facilities of a local branch line with one train a day."

"That's why I believe in issuing currency backed by public wealth."

Opportunity at Muscle Shoals
Ford paused again.

"Now, at Muscle Shoals," he said, "there's a chance to work out all these things."

"That whole country could be laid out in semi-rural communities."

"And water power possibilities are just waiting to be developed. The Tennessee river is second in power possibilities only to the Niagara."

"That power should be used to manufacture southern raw products right there, instead of shipping them half way across the continent and back again."

"And Muscle Shoals could furnish the opportunity to show the government how to develop public works without paying three times their cost in interest charges. But our public officials will have to see the idea clearly first."

"Right now every farmer should be encouraged to harness whatever water power he may have, if it isn't any more than a rill. Even that will heat the farm home and run the farm machinery."

"Diagrams and plans for small devices of that kind are being made now."

COURT CASES ARE TAKEN UP

Judge Coffey to Dispose of Large Number in Next Two Weeks

Judge J. A. Coffey, presiding in district court, will take up a long list of court cases between now and February 7, when the first of the army case, that of Company A vs. Hughes, will be taken up. Twenty-five to 30 court cases are to be disposed of by Judge Coffey during that period as a part of his work of clearing the calendar of all cases that can possibly be disposed of at this time of court.

A jury was out this afternoon in the case of Draves against Patterson. The army case had been set to be taken up immediately following the disposition of this case. Continuance was asked because of the absence of Mr. Hughes in Washington and the case was set for Feb. 7.

OIL AGENTS ARE BUSY, CHARGE

Washington, Jan. 26—Congressional investigation of charges that an extensive campaign of propaganda has been waged both in the United States and Mexico by "agents and representatives of certain oil interests" for the purpose of "discrediting the present government of Mexico and preventing its recognition by the United States" was called for today in a resolution introduced by Rep. Connolly, Democrat, Texas.

COURT "FAMILY" ENTERTAINED AT CLOSE OF WORK

Officials and Members of Jury Panel Guests at Dinner of E. G. Patterson

JUDGE COFFEY TALKS
Discusses Increasing Number of Cases in Court Involving Young People

Judge J. A. Coffey, officials and attaches of the district court, juryman and a few others were guests last night at a dinner given by E. G. Patterson, a member of the panel, at the McKenzie hotel. The guests, numbering more than 50, gathered in the rotary club dining room at 8 o'clock. Anton Beer, member of the jury, presided as toastmaster. Judge Coffey, introduced by the toastmaster, talked of conditions of the present time as seen from the bench. He remarked especially that the persons brought into court nowadays are mostly young people. He said that in these days of increased emphasis on education, that education without the foundation of integrity in the individual is really a menace to society instead of an asset.

State's Attorney McCurdy spoke along the same line, telling of the number of young people against whom criminal charges have to be brought. He told the jurors that their service in the courtroom doubtless was an education to them and that they could render a further service to their community by passing on the information to the fathers and mothers and to the young people in the communities. Scott Cameron, clerk upon legal procedure and said that while the present system is imperfect it is the best that the best minds have been able to evolve in all the years of court procedure.

A. W. Lucas, member of the jury panel, talked in a humorous vein, including the court, the jury and the lawyers in his remarks.

The jury which was dismissed about 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon by Judge Coffey has had before it the largest number of cases disposed of in one term in years. Judge Coffey thanked the jurors for their faithfulness in dismissing them until February 7, when the case of Company A against Hughes is to be tried. In the meantime Judge Coffey will hear court cases.

Another case where the appropriation and the law failed to coincide is causing correspondence between the North Dakota Poultry Association and the state auditor's office. The law which establishes the Poultry Association allows $300 a year to the organization for its work. The last legislature appropriated $350 for the biennial period.

The poultry association upon receipt of the warrant for $150 returned it to the auditor with a request that the annual allowance of $300 be sent them for their year's expenses. The request has been presented to the auditing board and returned for further information, and the question may yet reach the legal authorities for opinions.

INVITATION OF YOST TO EASTERN DIRECTORS TO SEND ATHLETES TO FERRY FIELD IS FORWARD STEP

Development of Inter Collegiate Association of Amateur Athletes is Traced

WAR CHANGED MATTERS

If the present trip of Field H. Yost, Director of athletics at the University of Michigan, to the East results in an invitation to the Inter Collegiate Association of Amateur Athletes of America to hold its annual meeting at Ferry Field at the University of Michigan, the invitation is accepted. It will add another chapter in a rapidly developing situation in the collegiate athletics of the country, a series of situations which have grown up since the war, and made possible because of conditions revealed at that time. Director Yost was considering the issuance of the invitation when he left for the East and is reported to have held a number of conferences with Michigan men to thoroughly canvass the subject before he started for New York. The result of these meetings is now made public.

The beginning of the series of events that may bring what is generally spoken of as the Eastern Inter-collegiate to the West had its inception in the formation several years ago of the National Collegiate Athletic Association. It was primarily an organization to promote friendship, to consider rules and to handle questions of academic interest concerning athletics. It was in some ways an outgrowth of the unusual success of the Missouri Valley and Big Ten Conferences in their supervision of the athletics of big schools between the Ohio river and the western plains. The East and especially some of the larger schools of the East were slow to become members of the organization although at present most of the schools with any athletic standing whatever are members of the association either in their own name or as the members of athletic conferences.

Service Football
Just at the time the association assumed considerable standing the war came on and intercollegiate games were continued for a year only as a part of the training of men for the army. Following the signing of the armistice, however, and as a means of helping to keep the men in Europe from thinking too steadily of the trip they all desired to take across the Atlantic, the A. E. F. athletic championships and then the Inter Allied games were instituted.

In the contests on the fields of France, where college men of all brands met as equals, with conditions of training and of travel at a par, the Eighty-ninth Division football team won the A. E. F. Championship. The Eighty-ninth was trained at Camp Funston, Kansas, and George (Potay) Clark, former Illinois, now coach at the University of Kansas, was its motivating force and captain. Its coaches, Wirthington, Guensey and Prichard were born in the Hawaiian Islands and Iowa, but had Eastern college training.

The Inter Allied games also brought conclusive proof that the eastern athletes, the men from west of the Allegheny mountains were as good as the men from the Eastern seaboard. In fact the Inter Allied track and field team had for its stars, college men from California, Oregon or the Missouri Valley and Big Ten territory. It was practically from the A. E. F. championships and the Inter Allied games that the conception of a meet at which all of the winning college athletes of America should take part had its conception. It was presented as a future question at the 1919 meeting of the National Collegiate Athletic Association. After thinking it over for a year, at the 1920 meet at Chicago, it was voted that as an experiment, such a meet be held. It was also the sentiment at this meet that the meet should be held in the middle west as offering the most equal conditions for all sections of the country.

The committee to handle the meet was announced as A. A. Stagg of the University of Chicago, J. E. Jones of the University of Wisconsin and John L. Griffith of the University of Illinois. The meet was held in Chicago the last of June and attracted the most representative body of college athletes in the country. Teams from the middle west and the south were present and individual athletes from the Pacific and Atlantic seaboard.

East Not Favorable

It had developed before the meet was held however that the East did not look with favor upon the proposition. Easterners pointed out that the title of their meet, Intercollegiate Association of Amateur Athletes of America made it the national meet. The Westerners replied that it was a national meet had never been held West of Philadelphia and that the contestants had been almost exclusively from the states developed from the thirteen original colonies. Michigan had competed for a number of years and California had been in the east on one or two occasions. The meet as such had never been planned or announced on the plans of the track meet of the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

At the 1921 meeting of the National Collegiate Athletic Association, held in New York during the holidays, it was voted to continue the track meet.

So easy to drop Cigarette, Cigar, or Chewing habit

No-To-Bac has helped thousands to break the costly, nerve-shattering tobacco habit. Whenever you have a longing for a smoke or chew, just place a harmless No-To-Bac tablet in your mouth instead. Get a box of No-To-Bac and if it doesn't release you from all craving for tobacco in any form, your druggist will refund your money without question.

although the general proposition of the association gathering intercollegiate athletes was bitterly opposed from the Eastern schools. The prospects are the meet will be held at Chicago on a date approximating the middle of June. The Southern teams have promised to be present and the California teams who contested in the Eastern meet last year have promised to make the National Collegiate meet their objective this year. The winning athletes from the meets of the many different conferences are the ones especially desired, so it may be in fact a meeting of the collegiate champions.

Yost and his possible invitation to the ICAAAA and its possible acceptance, which would bring all eastern athletes who competed in their annual classic to Ferry Field means that possibly the Eastern Intercollegiate will be held in almost the same part of the country as the National Collegiate meet, and that the middle west will witness the two largest college track meets to be held in the west this year, admitting that the Eastern Intercollegiate is larger than the Big Ten, the Missouri Valley or the Coast Conference meet, all questions open to debate.

AMERICA NOW IS STANDING ON "TIPTOE"

"The Farmer Is The Only Man Who Has Really Deflated," Says Mr. Hooper

"THE HARD PULL IS OVER"

Boston, Jan. 27.—Public sentiment exerts such a tremendous influence in America that the moral obligation of the railways and they employ to avoid interruption of traffic will make the United States Railroad Labor Board's decisions effective. Ben W. Hooper, vice-chairman of the board, declared today before the Boston Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. Hooper, C. W. Hanger, public member, and W. L. McMenimen, labor member of the board, were guests of the chamber at a luncheon, where Mr. Hooper voiced the opinion that America had passed through "the winter of our discontent" and was now "standing on tiptoe," with the slogan of the vernacular on her lips, "Let's go."

"The hard pull is over," the former governor of Tennessee said. "The farmer is the only man in the country who has really deflated. He alone did not have the parachute of organization to retard his descent and break his fall. The next time this country takes an international jolt, the farmer will have his parachute along with him and will not be invited to step out on a storm cloud and slide down on a rainbow."

Mr. Hooper said he expected the number of railway employees to be largely increased in the spring, that revenues would be enlarged by increased business and that conditions would probably justify a reduction of rates "which is so essential to the restoration of normal business."

In return to normal, Gov. Hooper said, the railroads had accomplished the transition without any general strike or serious disturbance.

Both Cooperated

"As a rule, both managements and employees have cooperated cordially in carrying out the Transportation Act," Mr. Hooper said. "This has not been easy for either side. The railroads have had to contend with financial difficulties, and have been continually subjected to the temptation of taking the bit in their teeth and trying to get relief by independent action more quickly than the labor board considered it just and reasonable to give to them. Only a few carriers have succumbed to this temptation, and in every instance, friction and discontent have resulted."

"The complaints of the employees have been that certain carriers, to avoid dealing with labor organizations, have disregarded the rights of the majority guaranteed by the Transportation Act, that certain carriers have evaded the board's wage orders by having receivers in charge put in effect wage orders of the courts without submitting the matter to the board and that certain carriers have evaded the wage decisions of the board by contracting or claiming to contract certain classes of their work to independent contractors."

"Whatever may be the merit of these contentions of the employees, it is evident that they involve provocative situations. Under somewhat trying

Twenty thousands spectators saw Ragnar Omstedt of Chicago win the national amateur ski title at the Norge Ski Clubs' meeting near Cary, Ill., on Jan. 22. Omstedt's best jump was 125, better than any jump made by either amateur or professional on the slide. Two trainloads of snow were imported to insure success of the meet.

MISS BOOTH'S PLAIN TALK TO YOUNG WOMEN

Advices Them To Buy Milk For Starving Babies Instead of Face Paints and Powders

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 27.—Women who powder their noses, touch up their hair with a bit of golden tint or add the bloom of youth to their cheeks are positively dishonest, Evangeline Booth, national commander of the Salvation Army, declared while here recently.

Women use "makeup" to deceive, Miss Booth said. "A woman has no right to fool the world," she added. "The woman with blushing cheeks, big eyes and curly hair is a cheat. Many divorces are caused by the fact that women have attempted to deceive their husbands regarding their appearance, she thinks. Man, she added, wants women as nature intended they should be."

The enormous sale of cosmetics in the United States is a disgrace to the country, Miss Booth feels. "If our young women of today would only take the money they use for paint and powder, and buy milk for the poor starving babies of the world, they would need any artifice to make themselves attractive," she said. "In their cheeks would be the hue of joy that comes from the heart and in the eyes the light that comes only from giving service to the world."

Miss Booth thinks moderation and utility should be the guide when it comes to clothes. Following the style of the Salvation Army, she says, skirts should be five or six inches above the ground.

"Too many women today destroy their true womanliness by immodest dressing and they have only themselves to blame when their characters are questioned," she asserted.

Commission Meets to Decide on Trucks

At the regular meeting of the Mandan city commission Wednesday evening at the city hall the entire evening was spent with representatives from ten fire apparatus companies discussing the merits of the fire equipment which was offered in the bids which were opened at the time.

Ten bids were opened and they ranged in price from $4,000 to $12,500. The commission did not however, decide on any definite truck but a special meeting has been called for Saturday evening, Jan. 28 at which time the matter will be fully discussed.

The companies which have representatives here who entered their bids are: The White Motor Co., Mack Truck Company, International, Reo, LaVerne, Northern Fire Apparatus company, J. N. Johnson company, Twin City Motor Co., Waterloo company, and the American LaFrance company.

The Town Crier's committee in charge of the skating rink at the corner of First street and Fourth avenue N. W. had the rink scraped and resealed Wednesday afternoon and another flooding will be given late this afternoon. If the weather remains cold enough to sufficiently freeze the rink before tomorrow the skaters will be allowed to enjoy themselves again. It is planned to have a big light placed at the east end of the rink.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Paulson have received word that the body of their son, Clifford Paulson, was forwarded from Brooklyn at three o'clock Wednesday.

from an ice floe by David Bartlett (Richard Barthelmess) on the brink of a fall. A moment later the floe dashes over the brink and crashes below. The effect is overpowering.

Of course, such scenes could not be rehearsed, but the participants could be properly instructed beforehand. And it was Griffith himself who did the instructing. Not only that, but he also tried nearly everything before he would let his actors risk their lives. He would personally test each bit of ice that was to be used by the actors as a resting place and so great was the confidence of each player in the director that there was never a moment's hesitancy in taking chances once he was satisfied that he could permit the scene to be photographed.

JACKIE COOGAN HERE.

Jackie Coogan, the famous youngster who won a nation-wide reputation in Charles Chaplin's picture, "The Kid," comes to the Eltinge tonight as a star in his own production, "My Boy." The picture has been highly praised by eastern critics as a remarkable dramatic achievement, and as a picture where grandfathers and grandmothers enjoy themselves as hugely as the kiddies. The picture is at the Eltinge Friday and Saturday night.

GRIFFITH'S BAD SCAR ON HIS CHEEK

D. W. Griffith bears on his cheek a scar that will probably never disappear. It is the result of his bravery in saving from death in the re-echoed White River of Vermont, an assistant who was in imminent danger of being washed down the stream in a sudden flood. It was during the taking of "Way Down East" which is showing at the Capitol theater, that the incident occurred and Griffith himself was so badly injured that he had to suspend all operations for several days while he lay in a farm house under the care of a surgeon. His right leg was ripped open and both cheeks were badly cut when he fell on the ice. However, he saved the man.

"Way Down East" has the most thrilling ice scene ever presented before a crowd of spectators. Indeed, it is certain that no scene before shown is as realistic as is that when Anna Moore (Lillian Gish) is rescued.

A bottle sufficient to last a family several months can be had at any drug store, and the cost is only about a cent a dose.

While no one, young or old, need take a drastic purgative like salts or calomel, be especially careful what you give a

Our Annual White Goods Sale—the event you have been waiting for—commences Saturday, January 28th. Ending the following Saturday, February 4th.

The White Goods Sale this year is much more far-reaching and complete than it has been for a number of years, because we are again able to offer many fine lines that have been off the market for some time.

Although of late the cotton market has strengthened considerably and prices of the finished products have advanced sharply, we are able to offer values that will seem almost like old times.

Only a small part of the offerings are mentioned in this ad. The good values are so many that it is hard to pick out a few representative ones from each line. But when you come in you will find them all on display.

THE STATE'S OLDEST NEWSPAPER (Established 1873)

WHAT YOU EAT

Vegetarians are shocked to learn from Vilhjalmur Stefansson, Arctic explorer, that he and two trapper-companions lived two years eating nothing except seal meat.

This happened on Stefansson's last scientific expedition on the great sheet of ice that forms constantly near Alaska and, moving 15 miles a day, travels on up over the North Pole, then southeast 400 miles until it is melted as it strikes the Gulf Stream in the Atlantic Ocean.

For two years Stefansson and his two followers tasted no vegetables. They had seal meat for breakfast, lunch and dinner—nothing but seal meat, for two whole years.

Dieticians predicted that the three explorers would perish unless they had a balanced diet, vegetables for carbo-hydrates, mixed with the protein of meat.

An exclusive meat diet, they told Stefansson, would kill any man. They said they knew this because they had tried it on a guinea pig!

How would you like to have nothing to eat except seal meat, for 730 days—two years?

After living on seals a week, the explorers lost their appetites. Even the thought of a seal made them gag.

Several days without food. Then seal meat began to smell good. After that, appetites returned and thenceforth no one hesitated when the cook whistled.

Lord Strathcona, builder of the Canadian Pacific Railroad, for years ate only one meal a day. And that meal was always the same. At 96 he was doing two men's work and helping run the British government in his sparetime.

He never tired of that unchanging menu. Why should he? Chinese never tire of rice, nor Scotchmen of oatmeal nor Norwegians of herring.

Craving for a change of food is due to a palate that is jaded by variety, not by monotony.

From Stefansson's experience, learn two important things about food:

First:—People take on the characteristics of what they eat. Stefansson says he ate so much seal meat that he probably began to smell like one, for polar bears scented him and his companions 10 miles away.

Second:—A diet of nothing but meat worked all right in the frozen north, due to severely cold weather and the explorers' hard work. In a warm climate, the same diet would kill. It would be doubly deadly for the indoor worker who doesn't get much exercise.

ADVERTISING LANTERNS

The two Wrigley factories in Brooklyn and Chicago are turning out an average of 43,000,000 sticks of gum a day.

What built up this enormous business in a few years?

Answer: Advertising!

Admittedly, Wrigley had to have a gum that pleased the public taste. But many other gum companies, with a satisfactory product, remain small because they haven't advertised on a big scale.

Philosopher Emerson was wrong. You may make a better mousetrap, but the world won't beat a path to your door unless you get your message to the world by advertising.

Advertising is the lantern that finds business in dark times.

GROWTH

Samuel Mather loaned $63.62 to the state of Massachusetts. That was in 1794. Sam's heirs ask $32,000, which is what the original $63.62 would amount to now with interest.

It's a good thing for the rest of us, that no one lives as long as Methuselah, who died when he was 969. He could put $100 in the bank when a young man, let it grow at compound interest, and in his old age have all the money in the world, many times over.

CHAPLIN

Charlie Chaplin had $100,000 credit balance with E. W. Wagner & Co., brokerage house that failed. The king of comedy won't find life very humorous until he learns how much he's going to get on the dollar.

Jobless men, with empty pockets, will say: "Oh, well, he was lucky to have it to lose."

About 10 years ago, Charlie probably doubted that there was $100,000 in the whole world.

WOMEN ON JURIES

A bill, admitting women to jury duty on a basis of equality with men, is introduced in the New York Senate by Nathan Straus, Jr.

Women jurors, in other states, have demonstrated that they deserve the equality, and possibly a little more.

The statue of justice always is the figure of a woman. Artists for centuries have made it so, by intuition.

MARRIAGE

Woman's trip into the business world usually is an excursion. Permanent sojourn generally is prevented by Cupid.

How long should a girl remain in business before marrying?

About five years, advises Professor Ralph L. Powers, of the University of California.

Women in business are going to college—training themselves to be better home managers.

FURS

Trapping is being carried on more extensively this season than for the last ten years, and the catch is abnormal, reports the manager of the Winnipeg Fur Auction Sales Co.

Economic laws work as rigidly in the Far North as in this state. A shortage of any commodity runs prices up. With the supply increased, price slumps. The production falls off.

It's the eternal merry-go-round, with speculators playing the turn in the market.

MANY WOMEN EMPLOYED

About 90,000 women are employed by the railroads.

To realize how times have changed and how women have invaded business, go back in memory 30 years and try to picture a woman on a railroad payroll. They were mighty few, if at all.

The influx of women into business in one generation has been a greater change than in any previous civilization. In the long run it will have many times greater effect on American life than the World War.

FOOLED

Scientists said that a big dam, built out into the Atlantic from Canada, would divert the Arctic current and make eastern Labrador as warm as Spain.

The news reached Labrador, caused much excitement. Eskimos elected two agents, who climbed the icebergs and, after a long strenuous trip, got down to civilization to urge the dam.

Then they learned that other scientists had explored the theory. No bananas for Labrador. The Eskimos return home, disillusioned.

Life usually is a chase after similar hoaxes.

EDITORIAL REVIEW

Comments reproduced in this column may or may not express the opinion of The Tribune. They are presented here in order that our readers may have both sides of important issues which are being discussed in the press of the day.

VISCOUNT BRYCE

Viscount Bryce is dead, and the loss is not only to the great nation of which he was a subject but also to all North America and those peoples everywhere who cherish the ideals of liberalism and humanity which he represented and defended so ably. A nation can be put to no more searching test than the quality of man it produces, and England, Scotland and Ireland, for each contributed to the genius of Viscount Bryce, must feel a great satisfaction in surveying the life and achievements of this son.

The life of Viscount Bryce presents an almost incredible succession and variety of great works. He was historian, lawyer, parliamentarian, statesman, diplomat, political philosopher, biologist, biographer. He never faltered in the pursuit of world justice and peace no matter where it led, and the cable which brought the news of his death remarked that he was extremely energetic almost up to his last hour. This was the man America knew him in the years when he was ambassador at Washington. There was no task too arduous or too difficult which he shirked when his ideals were involved. These ideals were some of the finest which have motivated the Twentieth century. He believed in liberalism and was, beyond question, its best advocate. His latest work was a monumental defense of democracy. "Modern Democracies" sums up the case for liberalism; it corrects those faults which have appeared in its practical application; it brings democracy forward to its new position. It came at a most opportune moment, when everywhere the new cults of anarchism and disintegration were making every effort to discredit democracy. It was Viscount Bryce's last and one of his greatest services.

His friendship for the United States was a byword in Anglo-American relations. Americans will never forget the work he did in bringing the two nations into closer touch. His "American Commonwealth" written originally to reveal to Britain and Europe the truth about the American political system, has become a standard text in this country. No American has described his own government or presented a better defense of its underlying principles than this Englishman. He is dead, but not before the purpose of his life had been fulfilled. Neither England nor the United States will forget him, and the remembrance of him and his ideal of Anglo-American co-operation will forever be a mediator and link between them. St. Paul Dispatch.

MOTHER OF FIVE JOINS HER SONS IN COLLEGE—KEEPS HER YOUNG

MRS. MARY CHURCH AND DAUGHTER, MARJORIE.

Liberty, Mo., Jan. 27—Would you stay young?

Would you be happy?

Would you banish the bugbear of loneliness?

Sounds like the leading words of an advertisement for cold cream or safety razors.

All wrong—they are simply the questions which Mrs. Mary A. Church, grandmother and college student, answers.

Mrs. Church, mother of five, grandmother of four and fellow classmate of two of her sons in the freshman class of William Jewell College here, has a new philosophy.

Attend college with young persons and you will find yourself growing young, she says.

In the few months she has been rubbing elbows with her own and other boys in the college classrooms she has found the answer to the three questions above.

Drop the habits of older persons and go to school!

Mrs. Church wears the little green freshman cap and observes all the rites of college freshmen.

"I felt myself slipping," she says. "I knew age was laying a finger on me. My husband, a lecturer, was away from home a great deal. A great loneliness came upon me."

"I discussed the situation with my husband.

"And then I entered college with my boys.

"Age is slipping off my shoulders and I haven't felt so young in years. "I no longer am lonely. I haven't time to be. Then there's the companionship of my boys. We are in the same classes and study together.

"My son Caryel is 20 years old and James is 18. My daughter, Marjorie, is 12 and well able to help with the housework which we do easily after class hours.

Mrs. Church has two married daughters.

She is studying English, French history of western Europe and appreciation of music.

"The federal judgeship occupies the center of the political stage now. Opposition to Miller is largely a drive against Senator McCumber. The senior senator realizing this went before the judiciary committee and in an impassioned speech recounted the political situation in North Dakota.

It was rumored about the lobbies this week that state officials had been urged by the Miller opposition to sign a round robin addressed to President Harding asking that Miller's name be withdrawn. When the judgeship matter is settled political developments should follow fast and furious.

The control by Senator McCumber of the more important federal plums is regarded as a very important phase in his preliminary campaign for reelection. Failure of his men to land in federal berths will have an unfavorable reaction although not a fatal one upon his candidacy.

There was some talk that Gov. Hanna would get into the senatorial race against McCumber, but his trip abroad that will take him away a month or two seems to discount this rumor. These are days when political fences are being reared and combinations made. If the former governor were to get into the race it is likely that he would confine his cruise to North Dakota counties rather than the Mediterranean sea.

Judge Christianson's name persistently comes forward as a possible candidate against McCumber. Those who urged him for a place on the federal bench in opposition to Andrew Miller are loudest in their demands that he oppose the senior senator.

In that event he probably would resign from the bench leaving an appointment for Gov. Nestos. Bureleigh Spaulding as Christianson's successor has been suggested by the "dopesters." But Judge Christianson is not talking politics. He is intensely popular and a vote getter that survived a strong league in opposition, Christianson would be a contender to be reckoned with.

JACKIE COOGAN AT THE ELTINGE

Stars in the picture world who have spent years in achieving that position may look with justified envy on Jackie Coogan. Six years old and one of the most popular of stars after the showing of his first picture. He ran Chapin a close second in "The Kid" and had the honors in "Peck's Bad Boy" all to himself. Now, in "My Boy," showing at the Eltinge today and tomorrow he has an original story in which he is a little immigrant boy whose father died in France, his mother weakened by work and illness did not survive the journey to America and Jackie is left to face the world alone. His further experiences, containing both humor and pathos afford an opportunity for a performance never to be forgotten and the hit "My Boy" is making throughout the country will be duplicated in Bismarck where Jackie is already a great favorite. Bismarck kids are especially grateful that Jackie comes on Saturday.

AGED MOONSHINER SENTENCED.

Hettinger, N. D., Jan. 27.—Henry Sylvester, who claimed he was 80 years old, his daughter, another woman, and one Frank Keef, were fined $200 each and sentenced to 90 days in jail here by Judge Frank Lembke for selling moonshine liquor. They paid the fines and were allowed one day to leave the town.

STORE TO BE REBUILT.

Mandan, N. D., Jan. 27.—Ben Halpern, proprietor of the Halpern department store at Golden Valley which was destroyed by fire last Saturday with a total loss of $60,000, will rebuild with a modern fireproof block, immediately, he has announced.

IMPROVED ROADS

PROPER WIDTH OF HIGHWAYS

Eighteen Feet Should Be the Minimum, Not the Maximum on Main Traveled Roads.

Through all the years we have been trying to maintain from forty to sixty-foot roads in a large percentage of our public highways when such a width was wholly unnecessary. The road sides have not been cared for because they were waste land and this lack of care has made them spreaders of weed seed and hay fever. A narrower roadway, well kept, would in most cases serve all the purposes required, drainage and safety, says the Successful Farmer.

Now that the roads are to be hard surfaced the tendency is to go to the other extreme in order to save taxes for paving. We must look ahead. If we put down a paving that will last fifteen or twenty years, we must estimate if possible the amount and kind of traffic it will bear at that time.

Putting the Finishing Touches on Hard Surface Road.

If the road is dangerously narrow now, as is the case where less than eighteen feet is paved, what will it be in twenty years?

Eighteen feet should be the minimum, not the maximum, and on main traveled roads a greater width will seem narrow in twenty years. In England and France the roads are paved, clear to the fences or sides of the highways, unless a curb and sidewalk or bicycle path is maintained between the road and fence. Every foot is kept in good condition. Good drainage is as much a part of the European highways as is the case with our city paved streets.

We are at the beginning of motor transport. Unless we look ahead and provide wider pavements, we will find the highways crowded and our possible relief from railway congestion annulled. A few dollars saved now in narrowing our paved highways will prove a short sighted policy.

We have already seen the folly of constructing our canals too narrow and locks too short. The great lakes boats needed in Atlantic transport during the war had to be cut in two and taken through the canals in pieces. Ocean ships cannot reach interior ports until the canals and locks are enlarged. This is a highway lesson to us. Look to the future.

82 Years Old and As Good as a Youngster

"7 or 8 years ago I was a very sick man. Doctors said catarrh trouble of stomach and bowels, affecting the liver and heart. For more than a year wanted to die, but could not. Upon the advice of a friend I tried Mayr's Wonderful Remedy, and although 82 years old I now feel as good as a youngster." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. For sale at all druggists.

GIRLS! LEMONS WHITEN ROUGH CHAPPED HANDS

Squeeze the juice of two lemons in to a bottle containing three ounces of Orchard White, which any drug store will supply for a few cents, shake well, and you have a quarter-pint of harmless and delightful lemon-bleach lotion to soften and whiten rough or chapped hands. This home-made lemon lotion is far superior to glycerine and rose water to smoothen the skin. Famous stage beauties use it to bleach and bring that soft, clear, rose-white complexion, because it doesn't irritate.
